digital health center bülach (dhc)

The center for digital innovation in healthcare

The idea behind

In the digital health center bülach (dhc), start-ups, established IT companies and healthcare organizations work together to develop solutions in the field of digital health.

The aim of the innovation center is to use digital solutions to improve processes, products and services in the healthcare sector having always the patient in mind.

The dhc offers its members services such as coaching, networking events and knowledge platforms as well as workplaces, meeting, conference and innovation rooms. Depending on the membership categories, the offers can be used by the stakeholders for a fee or free of charge.
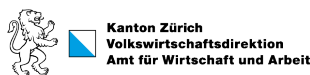

The operator of the innovation center is the association dhc. The dhc board and management determines the thematic focus of the innovation center and acquires suitable startups and IT companies.
